COVID-19 Offshore Bulletin

Robert Training & Conference Center Class Variances and Waivers

April 9, 2020

Robert Training & Conference Center has been working diligently with BSEE, the US Coast Guard, OSHA and the EPA to ensure waiver/variance provisions are in place for many mandatory training requirements in response to COVID-19.

Please view the training courses variance document for more information regarding each offshore training course and the associated variance provision in place.

If your training, credential or certification is not listed in the chart, this means there is currently no variance for the course. In order to request essential training, you must contact your supervisor and/or OM for additional guidance on how to start the approval process through the IMT.

Note: If a worker has an expired credential and no variance provision is in place, do not allow the worker to perform said task or role. Ensure you have another individual compliant to complete the relevant tasks.

Reminder: Shell staff and core contractors should not seek training at other facilities that remain open during this time to ensure they are following the self-quarantine guidelines.

Thank you,
Robert Training & Conference Center
